You can never be too prepared

- First three named storms this year will be Arlene, Bret, Cindy
- Igor was retired from list of hurricane names ► Hurricane season starts June 1 but heats up in our area by late August

JENNIFER TAPLIN
@METRONEWS.CA

Just because there are fewer hurricanes forecast for this year than there were in 2010 doesn't mean it's time to relax, warned officials on Thursday.

According to the U.S. National Hurricane Center, the 2011 hurricane season will be very active, with a predicted 12 to 18 named storms. Six to 10 of them are predicted to be hurricanes; three to six, major hurricanes.

Last year there were 19 named storms and five major hurricanes.

Record warm surface temperatures in the North Atlantic mixed with the predicted absence of storm-calming El Nino in the Pacific are providing the foundations for powerful storms this year.

And it just takes a direct hit

Earl and Igor

- Earl and Igor were the big hurricanes that crashed into Atlantic Canada last year.
- Earl caused power outages and tree damage to several neighbourhoods in HRM on Sept. 4. Two weeks later, Igor, considered one of the worst storms in Newfoundland's history, left floods and wind damage in its wake.

from one of them to make it a bad year, said Chris Fogarty with the Canadian Hurricane Centre in Dartmouth.

"If it's a quiet prediction for this year, it shouldn't change your overall readiness," he said.

And it doesn't take a named storm to cause intense damage like the one that hit Meat Cove last year, said Andy Lathem with the province's Emergency Management Office.

"We don't really mind if a hurricane decides to give Nova Scotia a wide berth, but we want to be ready for it anyway because we know from experience they all won't be so generous," Lathem said.

And the 2011 outlook, while more modest than last year's, is still above-average for a hurricane season.

Fogarty said hurricanes have been plentiful in the past several years and will likely be above average for at least the next six years.

"There really is no correlation between overall amount of storms versus what makes it up into Eastern Canada," Fogarty said.

"We want people to have the same state of readiness regardless of the seasonal forecast."

Mayor race would be tight, poll says

► Savage hasn't confirmed on mayoralty run ► Next municipal election set for fall 2012 ► Kelly's support decreases with age, as with income levels

► Former Dartmouth-Cole Harbour MP Mike Savage

► HRM Mayor Peter Kelly

PHILIP CROUCHER
@METRONEWS.CA

Wouldn't this be a potential heavyweight battle?

A new poll suggests residents of HRM are split down the middle on a vote for mayor between Peter Kelly and Mike Savage. The Corporate Research Associates poll released Thursday says among decided voters, 47 per cent support Kelly, with Savage right behind at 46 per cent.

Another seven per cent said they wouldn't vote for either candidate. In total, 403 HRM residents were surveyed, with 19 per cent undecided.

Kelly has said he will run for another term in 2012, while Savage's name has been bandied about as a possible contender ever since he lost his federal seat in Dartmouth-Cole Harbour during the May 2 federal election to Robert Chisholm of the NDP.

"These numbers would suggest (for Savage), given no sort of campaigning or any-

Gender bender

The poll also shows more females would vote for Kelly, with Savage leading amongst men.

thing, it's a pretty good place to start thinking about running," said the CRA's Don Mills.

"It's a competitive thing going in."

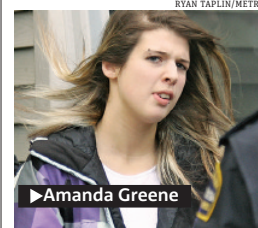

The poll shows support for Kelly is highest in Halifax (49 per cent), with Sav-age's strongest support coming in Dartmouth (51 per cent).

The poll was conducted from May 3 to 14 and is accurate within 4.9 percentage points, 19 times out of 20.

"We've run a lot of names over the last few years ... and Savage has done the best, I think, in terms of being very competitive with a mayor who, of course, has a very solid, strong support base," Mills said. "Although, it may not be as strong as it used to be."

Accused in Jewett case may get deal

► Amanda Greene

The woman accused of killing Dillon Jewett may be working out a deal.

CBC is reporting the lawyer for Amanda Greene said negotiations are underway and they may resolve the case. Her case was adjourned until May 30.

The 18-year-old woman from Cow Bay is charged with first-degree murder along with brothers Kyle and Steven Gowan. James Patterson was charged with accessory to murder after the fact.

Jewett, 18, was found on a path near an East Uniacke quarry in October.

Man faces hundreds of child porn charges

Police say the over 250 child pornography charges facing a Cape Breton man are the most ever laid against a single person in Nova Scotia.

David Carter Roger Archibald of Ingonish Beach, Victoria Co., was charged on Wednesday with 176 counts of distribution of child pornography and 76 counts of making child pornography.

"It's the largest amount of charges I've ever laid in my career at one time," said Const. Paul Smith of the Nova Scotia RCMP Internet Child Exploitation Unit.

Archibald also faced a single count of possessing child pornography. He pleaded guilty to that charge on Thursday.

The 62-year-old turned himself into the Ingonish RCMP at about 7:30 a.m. on Wednesday after "an agreement was made between the Crown prosecutor and his defence counsel," said Smith.

Police say the charges follow a 20-month-long investigation and cover a period from January 2008 to January 2011.

In January, RCMP searched and seized a number of computers and equipment from Archibald's residence. Following an investigation into those items, police allegedly retrieved several thousand images of child abuse and porn text.

Smith said the children were not from Nova Scotia, but could not confirm where they were from.

"Police are actively investigating these people who victimized the most vulnerable people of our society, which is our children. We want them to know that eventually, they will get caught." ALY THOMSON

News in brief

Acquittal of woman accused of hiring hit man being appealed

The Nova Scotia Public Prosecution Service is appealing to the Supreme Court of Canada the acquittal of a woman accused of attempting to hire a man to kill her husband.

Nicole Ryan of Digby was arrested in March 2008 and tried in Nova Scotia Supreme Court on a charge of counselling another person to commit murder.

She was acquitted last year.

The Crown appealed the decision to Nova Scotia Appeal Court, which dismissed the appeal earlier this year.

ALY THOMSON

A 24-year-old woman is the latest to be charged in connection with the murder of Brandon Lewis Hatcher.

And Halifax Regional Police say more arrests could be coming.

Sarah Marie Oakley was arrested on Wednesday at a Dartmouth address and was charged with accessory after the fact.

Oakley's long brown hair covered her face as she walked into Halifax provincial court on Thursday. She was wearing baggy black sweat pants and a navy-blue T-shirt with a sweater tied over her shoulders.

She was remanded until Friday, when she will appear at Nova Scotia Supreme Court for a bail hearing.

Halifax Regional Police spokeswoman Theresa Rath said the investigation into the Dec. 3 shooting is ongoing and "there could be additional arrests."

"We won't rule it out at this time," she said.

Earlier this year, Cody Alexander Muise, 21, and a 17-year-old youth who cannot be named were charged with the first-degree murder of 22-year-old Hatcher.

An 18-year-old man was also charged with first-degree murder, but that was dropped last week.

On Dec. 3, just after 8:30

"By arresting those individuals ... we feel that we have dismantled a group operating together and committing criminal acts of violence in our community."

THERESA RATH, HRP

p.m., police were called to the 100 block of Lavender Walk in Spryfield where they found a man who had been shot.

Hatcher was taken to hospital, where he was pronounced dead shortly after.

Police say the incident is linked to ongoing youth gang rivalries in the Spryfield area, which they have tied to at least two other shootings just prior to Hatcher's death.

► Sarah Marie Oakley is escorted out of Halifax provincial court on Thursday.

Local volunteers headed to Alberta

"It's an interesting mission because it's in our backyard, and I'm very humbled to receive the call and help out fellow Canadians," he said.

Arsenault, an eight-year Red Cross volunteer who is trained as a disaster supervisor, has previously travelled to the U.S. twice to assist after hurricanes.

The Atlantic Red Cross is sending 14 volunteers to the fire-ravaged area to help out at evacuation centres and provide other support.

About 7,000 people were evacuated from their homes in the northern Alberta community.

and procedures, so they can fit in," said John Byrne, director general for the Atlantic region with the Red Cross, in a statement.

There are eight volunteers from Nova Scotia, three from Newfoundland and Labrador, and three from New Brunswick. They'll land in Edmonton in the next few days and they'll be sent to various locations to help the evacuees with emergency aid.

Arsenault is flying out of Halifax on Friday night.

"I just had a feeling we'd be deployed," he said. "They're looking for people with experience in certain areas so it's quite an honour to represent Canada and be chosen."

Prime Minister Stephen Harper will tour areas affected by wildfires with Alberta Premier Ed Stelmach on Friday.

Review ordered after jail assault

It took jail guards four-and-a-half hours to call police after an inmate was severely injured last week and Justice Minister Ross Landry wants to know why.

A 49-year-old man fell down stairs after an alleged fight with another inmate and was taken to the hospital in critical condition.

But Landry said the delay in notifying police will be reviewed.

"I'm not alarmed at the time delay but I'm asking the question as to how that occurred," he told reporters Thursday.

Assault charge

► Patrick Carl Shea, 39, has been charged with aggravated assault in relation to the incident.

► Justice Minister Ross Landry

Even though there was a delay, Landry said he was satisfied the injured inmate was taken care of quickly, other inmates were secured properly and the evidence was protected.

There's no policy in place for guards directing them to call police after an incident, and Landry said he's asked his staff to look into it.

He added he'll wait until he's given all the details of what happened before making a call on whether the delay was appropriate or not.

Dexter pans Harper's Senate appointments

► NDP Leader Jack Layton has said the appointments were hypocritical, undemocratic and a 'slap in the face of Canadian voters'

Senate reform

► On Wednesday, Saskatchewan's Brad Wall said the appointments could stall Senate reform, noting his province passed legislation in 2009 to elect senators.

Premier Darrell Dexter has joined Saskatchewan's premier in denouncing Prime Minister Stephen Harper's decision to appoint three failed federal candidates to the Senate — two of whom quit the upper house to seek a seat in the Commons.

Dexter said Thursday the appointments earlier this week raise questions about Harper's previous commitments to creating an elected Senate.

"I think it does considerable damage to his agenda," Dexter said.

"One of the underpinnings of the rage in the West around the Senate was that whole question about the integrity of the chamber. They complained vociferously, not about the function of the chamber, but about the manner in which it is constituted. The cry was for an (elected) Senate. This flies in the face of that."

Dexter said the federal Conservatives made the

Some progress in ER closures

CRITICAL CARE. Emergency rooms in Nova Scotia were closed for nearly 19,000 hours last year, the province says.

Health Minister Maureen MacDonald tabled a report Thursday in the legislature that showed ERs were shut down for 18,920 hours in 2010-11, or the equivalent of about 788 days. That's a slight drop from the year before, when ERs were closed for 19,116 hours.

MacDonald says the report shows some progress has been made in reducing ER closures, but more needs to be done.

St. FX boosts tuition

FUNDING CUT. Students will pay more this fall to attend St. Francis Xavier University. The board of governors has approved a three per cent increase in tuition for 2011-12. That means tuition for a full-time student from Nova Scotia will rise to $5,108, up $176 from last year.

Spokeswoman Cindy McInnis says the hike is a direct result of reduced provincial funding. She says the university is also aiming to increase enrolment by 150 students as part of an effort to balance the books.

Marathoners racing into the record books

- Blue Nose expects to set participation record for eighth annual race
- Motorists should expect delays, closures on Sunday

MATTHEW WUEST
@METRONEWS.CA

The Scotiabank Blue Nose Marathon is closing in on five-digit participation for the first time in its history.

As of Thursday, more than 9,300 runners had registered for the eighth annual race in Halifax and Dartmouth, and organizers expect more than 1,000 additional sign-ups on Friday and Saturday.

That would push the Blue Nose past the 10,000 mark. A record 9,428 turned out last year.

"We're right on target with our forecast," said Blue Nose co-chair Rod McCulloch.

Streets in peninsular Halifax and Dartmouth will be subject to closures and controlled access. The MacDonald Bridge will be closed to vehicle traffic from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Sunday and reduced to one lane from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., while the Barrington Street ramp will be closed from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Halifax Regional Police spokesperson Theresa Rath urged motorists to be alert.

"We really want people to be cautious," she said. "We want to ensure that everyone is doing their part to ensure the safety of both the runners and the spectators."

Faith in food safety faltering

- When it comes to the food we eat, a survey finds a majority will pay more for local because we feel it's safer
- Feds take heat for not fixing food-safety issues

BY THE NUMBERS

RICK EMBERLEY
HALIFAX@METRONews.CA

More and more HRM residents have concerns when it comes to the safety of their food.

According to my polling, over 40 per cent are highly concerned when it comes to the topic, and eight in 10 are more worried about food safety today than we were five years ago.

Our respondents held strong opinions about what is raising the alarm bells.

Sixty-two per cent indicate they are very concerned about the use of pesticides; 64 per cent say chemicals; and 62 per cent point to the presence of bacteria such as salmonella and E. coli.

There is also concern about genetically modified foods, particularly among young and older adults. Fifty-nine per cent of respondents from the ages of 18 and 25 indicate they are very concerned.

How is all this concern affecting our daily shopping behaviour?

On this front, the findings are a little unclear. Twenty-nine per cent say they have stopped buying a particular brand in the past 12 months because of a food recall, and 38 per cent report they are willing to pay more money for organic products.

But a whopping 77 per cent say they are willing to pay more for local products because of a concern over food safety.

Forty-three per cent feel it is a shared responsibility between the federal government and food manufacturers. Another 23 per cent blame the feds solely, and 18 per cent point the finger at the processors and manufacturers.

Less than five per cent indicate farmers or retailers.

In 2008 the Canadian Medical Association reported inadequacies in our surveillance system. Someone will have to take concrete, transparent steps to instill public confidence again.

$3M in storm relief available

Nova Scotians who sustained uninsured property damage during four days of heavy rain in December will be eligible for disaster relief.

Justice Minister Ross Landry announced a $3-million relief program on Thursday morning during a press conference.

Up to 130 millimetres of rain fell in mid-December, causing damage from Digby County through much of central and eastern Nova Scotia, including Cape Bre-

Parts of HRM were also affected.

The disaster-assistance program is the third in six months for Nova Scotia.

The latest program is cost-shared by Nova Scotia and Ottawa, with the province contributing about $2 million of the total.

In all, about $16 million has been provided for damage caused by storms in the province last year.

Nova Scotia's privacy watchdog says the premier's office asked to consult her after she raised a red flag about a new law that could violate the privacy of voters.

► Egg, shoes allegedly thrown at Chinese online censor

Chinese police were seeking the man who allegedly threw an egg and shoes Thursday at the computer scientist famous for designing China's Great Firewall of web controls.

The attack — if true — is a particularly bold one for China and underscores how strongly people feel about the country's strict Internet censorship.

A Twitter user posting under the name "hanunyi" claimed that one of the shoes struck computer expert Fang Binxing while he was visiting Wuhan University in Hubei province. Fang, president of Beijing University of Posts and Telecommunications, is popularly known as the "father of the Great Firewall" and is reviled by many Chinese web users.

An officer at the Luojishan Public Security Bureau confirmed police were sent to the university to investigate a shoe-throwing incident that targeted Fang. The officer, who refused to give his name, said Fang was on his way to the airport.

Hanunyi posted a live account of the alleged shoe toss on his Twitter page, including photos of the door to the lecture hall where it happened, a hand clutching an egg in preparation and bare feet after he fled.

He described running away from the scene and three hours later expressed surprise at the huge online response.

Chinese web filters routinely block searches for content that authorities deem too politically sensitive, such as the banned spiritual group Falun Gong or jailed Nobel laureate Liu Xiaobo.

Red Shirts unite

Leaders of last year's anti-government "Red Shirt" protests have registered their candidacies for a July 3 general election as the politics of the street converges with the politics of the ballot in Thailand. The Pheu Thai Party associated with deposed prime minister Thaksin Shinawatra and his "Red Shirt" supporters drew the desirable No. 1 spot in the election. By chance, the ballot draw took place on the one-year anniversary of the army's crushing of a two-month-long Red Shirt protest in central Bangkok.

Wage gap wisdom?

► Study suggests women's low expectations may cause inequality

Female university grads looking for their first jobs expect to earn less than men, and those lower expectations may be the reason the actual wage gap persists, a new study says.

"Women know they currently aren't earning as much as men, so they enter the workforce with that expectation," said Sean Lyons, a University of Guelph researcher who helped conduct the study.

"Because they don't expect to earn as much, they likely aren't as aggressive when it comes to negotiating salaries or pay raises and will accept lower-paying jobs than men, which perpetuates the existing inequalities."

When asked to estimate their starting salaries, female students entering the work world predicted their pay cheques would be 14 per cent lower than the wages men said they expected to pull.

The gap widened over the course of their anticipated careers, with women expecting to make 18 per cent less than men after five years. And it was most pronounced in male-dominated fields such as science and engineering.

Statistics Canada says the real gap in salary between university-educated women and men is 22 per cent. That is, women earn only 68 cents for every dollar earned by equally qualified men.

► Rookie MPs bask in camaraderie as they tour Parliament buildings

They were warned about the perils of life in Parliament — the stress on their marriages, the strain on their health, the long hours, the tricky business of hiring the right staff.

But rookie MPs attending their freshman orientation session Thursday also got a glimpse of the camaraderie life on the benches breeds.

"In that room, no one had the logo Conservative or Green or Liberal or what not, so it's just interesting to be with a great bunch of people for the 41st Parliament," said Dan Albas, a B.C. Tory.

"I think that the part that struck me the most is that we're all there to work together and find those common lines, because we have to work for the people of Canada and make sure their priorities are coming first and I think that's something all of us want to contribute."

No matter what the age, the new parliamentarians seemed a little giddy and just slightly lost.

But for name tags they were given to wear, they could have easily been mistaken for confused tourists wandering the Parliament Buildings.

Bob Rae offers to be Liberals' interim leader

Bob Rae is shelving his long-term leadership ambitions to become interim leader of the devastated federal Liberal party.

The Toronto MP wrote his caucus colleagues Thursday to advise he's willing to let his name stand for the position of interim leader.

And he acknowledged that means he'll have to give up thoughts of one day running to become the permanent successor to Michael Ignatieff, who resigned after leading the party to a historic defeat in the May 2 election.

"I shall abide by any rules about the interim leadership, agreed to by the caucus and by the (the party's) board (of directors)," he says in his letter.

"I have made it a watchword of my time in public life to practise the politics of unity and principled compromise. I shall continue to do so."

The party's directors have the authority to appoint an interim leader, based on the recommendation of the parliamentary caucus — which appears to hugely favour Rae.

The board said last week the interim leader must be bilingual and must promise not to seek the permanent leadership or engage in discussions about a possible merger with the New Democrats.

► For those who read the articles, users can search writers such as Hunter S. Thompson, Jack Kerouac, Norman Mailer and Kurt Vonnegut

Good news for those who thought their copies of Playboy were gone forever when their moms found them and threw them away.

Playboy launched a web-based subscription service Thursday called i.playboy.com that allows viewers to see every single page of every single magazine — from the first issue nearly 60 years ago that featured Marilyn Monroe to the ones hitting the newsstands today.

"They no longer have to store 57 years — 682 issues — of Playboy under their mattress," said Jimmy Jellinek, Playboy's chief content officer.

Chicago-based Playboy has seen its circulation plummet to 1.5 million today from 3.15 million in 2006 and has been trying all sorts of gimmicks to attract readers in recent years. One issue included a set of 3-D glasses to better see a centrefold shot in 3-D; another turned over the cover to a cartoon character, Marge Simpson.

Jellinek calls the website "the world's sexiest time machine" and "an anthology of cool" for a magazine he refers to as "the Mount Rushmore of literary greatness."

But one industry analyst makes Playboy sound more like a tired, dusty half-empty amusement park.

"The problem with Playboy is it not only lost its powerful interviews, but it lost its lead," said Samir Husni, director of the Magazine Innovation Center at the University of Mississippi School of Journalism.

What's in a name? A family for one man

► Man reunited with family 66 years after separation from mother in Second World War ► Meets nephew in first visit to Germany since war

Peter Jaunzemis went by the name George for more than six decades, but always wondered whether the Latvian refugee who brought him to New Zealand and raised him there was really his mother.

"She didn't act like a mother," Jaunzemis, 69, said Thursday of the woman, Anna Jaunzemis. "She was cold, she never took me in her arms and never referred to me as her son."

Jaunzemis recently discovered his true identity through the help of the International Tracing Service (ITS) in the central German town of Bad Arolsen.

For more than a decade, Jaunzemis sought to trace his Latvian family roots. He found nothing, not even a birth certificate.

"I was getting nowhere, trying every variant I could think of, but it felt like I was turning in circles," Jaunzemis said.

Finally, a friend who was tracing her own family history suggested he turn to the ITS, which holds troves of Second World War-era documents, including refugee lists, registers from displaced persons or DP camps, and missing per-Margret Schlenke, who heads the ITS department for missing persons, immediately found a file for Jaunzemis. But it also held another name, Peter van de Velde — a boy with the same birth date as Jaunzemis who had been removed from his mother at a DP camp in Belgium in June 1945.

The file, stuffed with more than 150 tattered, yellowing pages, contained old photos and letters from Jaunzemis's natural mother, Gertrud van de Velde, who for years sought her son. She died in Brussels in 2009, months before he first wrote to the ITS.

Nevertheless Jaunzemis, who now goes by Peter, said he is relieved to finally know who he is and that he has family.

Spy vs. Spy: Israel-Russia edition

An Israeli military attaché to Moscow who was expelled from Russia last week was carrying secret information when he was detained, Russia's Foreign Ministry said.

Vadim Leiderman was apprehended in Moscow on May 12, caught red-handed receiving classified information from a Russian citizen, the statement said. Leiderman was declared persona non grata and given 48 hours to leave the country, which he did.

Israel's military rejected allegations that Leiderman was a spy, saying in a statement the officer was debriefed after he returned.

Gad Shimron, an intelligence expert and former field operative for the Mossad, told Israel's Channel 10 TV that based on the information he knows, the odds of Leiderman being a spy are "extremely small."

The U.S. Secret Service should consider reverting to code.

The information-gathering organization decided to open a Twitter account this month, and while it isn't regaling us with tales of terror raids and false moustaches, the organization is letting us know it isn't fans of Fox News — at least one employee isn't.

"(H)ad to monitor Fox for a story. Can't. Deal. With. The. Blathering," a tweet from @SecretService, the service's official account, read Thursday.

And then there were the conspiracy theories:

"Secret Service tweet is now gone. Rogue agent? Or hackers? Would be sad if Secret Service was no more

The Secret Service has since apologized. It also said the vanishing tweet had been posted by an employee with access to the service's account who mistakenly believed they were on their personal account.

A judge agreed Thursday to free former International Monetary Fund leader Dominique Strauss-Kahn from a New York City jail on the condition that he post $1 million in bail and remain under house arrest, under the watch of armed guards, at a private apartment in Manhattan.

Praise for Arab Spring

► Bin Laden commends protests in taped message ► Attempts to stake a claim for al-Qaida in protests led mainly by frustrated youth

In a recording made shortly before his death, Osama bin Laden praised the mass protests that have toppled and shaken longtime rulers across the Arab world while trying to cast a role for al-Qaida.

Bin Laden's message, released on militant websites Thursday, is an attempt by the terror leader to remain relevant after sweeping changes in which al-Qaida played almost no role.

"The winds of change will spread through the entire Islamic world, God willing," bin Laden said.

He proclaimed it a "religious obligation" to form a council that would provide guidance for all Muslims — apparently a way for al-Qaida to play a role in the protests' future.

While not mentioning al-Qaida by name, he advised people struggling against their governments to remember "those who advised early on the necessity of uprooting these oppressive regimes" — a clear reference to the militant group.

CRICKET

Abbottabad bats zero

The city where Osama bin Laden was killed has been removed as the venue for a one-day international match between Pakistan's second-string cricket team and Afghanistan.

The Pakistan Cricket Board said Thursday that Abbottabad has been replaced by Islamabad, which will host the match on Wednesday.

The PCB didn't give a reason for the switch.

Afghanistan will be the first foreign cricket team to tour Pakistan since gunmen killed six police officials and a van driver during an attack on a Sri Lankan team bus at Lahore in March 2009.

Since then, Pakistan has hosted "home" series against international teams in United Arab Emirates, and also played "home" test matches against Australia in England last year.

Leon Panetta has warned CIA employees that anyone caught leaking information about the operation that killed Osama bin Laden could face prosecution. In a memo, the CIA director

Obama urges return to '67 Mideast borders

U.S. President Barack Obama on Thursday endorsed a key Palestinian demand for the borders of its future state and prodded Israel to accept that it can never have a truly peaceful nation based on "permanent occupation."

Obama's urging that a Palestinian state be based on 1967 borders — before the Six Day War in which Israel occupied East Jerusalem, the West Bank and Gaza — was a significant shift in the U.S. approach. It drew an immediate negative response from Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, who is to meet with Obama at the White House Friday.

In a statement released late Thursday in Jerusalem, Netanyahu called the 1967 lines "indefensible," saying such a withdrawal would jeopardize Israel's security and leave major West Bank settlements outside Israeli borders, though Obama left room for adjustments reached through negotiations.

At the same time, it was not immediately clear whether Obama's statement on the 1967 borders as the basis for negotiations — something the Palestinians have long sought — would be sufficient to persuade the Palestinians to drop their push for UN recognition of their statehood. Obama rejected the Palestinians' unilateral statehood bid Thursday as he sought to underscore U.S. support for Israel, notwithstanding the endorsement of the 1967 borders.

"Symbolic actions to isolate Israel at the United Nations in September won't create an independent state," Obama said.

Obama's comments came in his most comprehensive response to date to the uprisings sweeping the Arab world. Speaking at the State Department, he called for the leader of Syria to embrace democracy or move aside, without specifically demanding his ouster.

Former officials at the International Monetary Fund are full of praise for Canada's central bank governor, but fear Mark Carney faces long odds if he wants to replace the disgraced Dominique Strauss-Kahn as jostling for the job begins. # Carney's more pessimistic view revealed

► Economist's inadvertent email reveals Bank of Canada governor doesn't think the financial crisis over

Bank of Canada governor Mark Carney may be more pessimistic about the prospects for recovery in the U.S. and Europe than he lets on in public.

A glimpse of the central banker's gloomier view was offered in an email to clients from CIBC chief economist Avery Shenfeld after Carney gave a private assessment at a Toronto dinner Wednesday night.

The comments were supposed to be off the record, but Shenfeld admitted in a later email that he had been mistaken about the matter and asked clients to ignore his earlier comments.

According to Shenfeld's note, Carney said the global financial crisis is not over, painting a bleaker picture of the recovery in developed countries.

Even in Canada, which he said was in a solid position, it is too early to celebrate about how well the country emerged from recession, saying a true perspective might not be known until five years down the road.

But the most stark comments were reserved for the United States, which remains in political gridlock over how to deal with high deficits and mounting accumulated debt. THE CANADIAN PRESS

RICHARD CROUSE & MARK BRESLIN

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

► Johnny Depp stars in Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides, the fourth movie in the Pirates franchise.

It's time to jump ship

► Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides ► Mermaids are great, but not much else to write home about

Richard Crouse: Mark, my main question after watching the new Pirates movie is, If this was the first one of the series would we have had a two, three and four? I don't think so. It's a big splashy epic, but lacks the fun and Johnny's joie de vivre of the original. What say you, matey?

Mark Breslin: Richard, I wasn't even a fan of the original. And no franchise should exceed a trilogy unless the words "godfather" or "cheerleaders" are in the title. An appreciation of this movie is contingent upon how you feel about Johnny Depp and how much swordplay you can handle. I adore Depp's brilliant characterization in the series, but really, the tricks are starting to show their age. And I didn't like swashbuckling even when Douglas Fairbanks did it in 1932. Still, I thought this edition of Pirates was the best since the original, whatever that means.

RC: I don't think this one has the spark of the others. It's not as funny, Depp seems like he's gone back to the Captain Jack treasure chest one too many times and the action scenes, despite the 3-D, don't fly off the screen the way they have in the past. I liked the mermaids and think their attack sequence is the most exciting thing in the movie, but I may be wrong simply because the movie is so dark I may have missed something.

MB: Oh, those mermaids! Who knew they spoke in a Scandinavian accent? Yes, they are the most exciting thing in the movie, although I did enjoy Ian McShane's villainy. But despite the fountain of youth plot device, these Pirates are getting old. And you're right about how dark the film is: I was straining to make out which pirate was which. Quick clue: Depp is the Pirate Who's Had A Bit Of Work Done.

RC: Ha! Perhaps playing the same character four times in eight years is too much for Depp, or perhaps the limitations of Captain Jack are becoming apparent but he's not as entertaining as before. Not that director Rob Marshall helps him. The action sequences are as well choreographed as you might expect from the man who made Chicago and Nine, but they are also as exciting as you would expect from a man who specializes in making musicals.

MB: I see what you're getting at. For the next installment, make it a musical complete with a chorus line of mermaids!

Although the antics are amped up in The Hangover: Part II, star Bradley Cooper admits shooting the anticipated comedy was at least easier than the first.

"There's a certain amount of ease in knowing the character — having all this history," said Cooper recently in Toronto. "There was a lot less preparation because the preparation was already (in doing) a movie. That's a hell of a lot of rehearsal time to have another movie under your belt."

"The stakes are so high in this movie. It gets darker and because of that the three of us have to go to places making it believable but you have to deal with these crazy circumstances," Cooper said.

He explained that the movie's secret is in the camaraderie with co-stars Zach Galifianakis and Ed Helms.

"It's the reason I would do seven of these movies ... it was just really wonderful to see what would come out of that — things that weren't in the script," he said.

Reluctant 3-D user Bay ended up loving it

America's first mission to the moon wasn't just about scientific advancement and national pride; it was about investigating the crash of a mysterious Cybertronian spaceship.

So begins Transformers: Dark of the Moon, the third installment in the sci-fi franchise inspired by Hasbro's line of shape-shifting toys. Director Michael Bay showed about 15 minutes of assorted footage from his first 3-D film Wednesday as part of a discussion with filmmaker James Cameron about the challenges and benefits of 3-D moviemaking. Though Bay was initially skeptical about the multidimensional medium ("It might be a gimmick," he said in 2009), he said he "ended up loving it."

"It was just great to sculpt with space," he said. "It just felt right for this movie."

Cameron helped convince his fellow filmmaker to embrace 3-D technology and employ it in the latest Transformers adventure.

Kung Fu Panda 2 a 'passion project'

► Sequel gets a new director who was excited to step up to the plate ► Crew watched kung fu movies in down time

PHIL BROWN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

For anyone with a place in their hearts for kung fu movies and absurdly cute CGI animals, the release of Kung Fu Panda 2 is cause for giddy excitement. The first film was a critical success that also cleaned up at the box office in 2008 and Dreamworks Animation began work on the sequel shortly after it opened in theatres.

Jennifer Yuh Nelson was key member of the creative/design team on the original Kung Fu Panda and was promoted to director for this second outing.

Speaking to Metro, the filmmaker said she was thrilled to return. "I was always ready to keep going regardless of whether I was the director or not and a lot of the same group stayed on because everyone loved the first movie so much. It was always a passion project for everyone involved and that continued on the sequel."

Creating a CGI animated film on this scale was a huge undertaking for the director, who worked on the project for three years before it was complete.

"We didn't start seeing finish animated sequences until about a year and a half out," admitted Nelson. "It trickles in a little at a time and it's always a shock when you're working with rough black and white storyboards that you're used to and then all of a sudden you see the same scenes in gorgeous colour animation. It's a big jolt for the crew, because you suddenly realize what the final film will look like."

To help break up the tedium during the long production, Nelson said the crew would hold "kung fu movie lunches," watching an endless list of classic titles in the genre to inspire the vast team of animators.

"We'd watch everything from Drunken Master to Kung Fu Hustle," said the director. "That's one of the reasons why these movies aren't parodies. They are a homage to movies that we all really love."

► What does Lady Gaga's handwriting say about her? Metro finds out

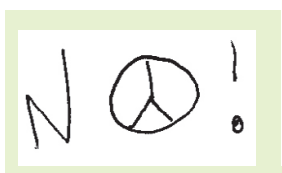

CARLY BALDWIN
SCENE@METRONOVS.CA

The estimable Lady Gaga served as Metro's guest editor on Tuesday and we got her to answer some of our questions in her own handwriting.

Which, of course, raises the question: What does Lady Gaga's penmanship say about her?

Metro consulted Dennis Duez, a Pittsburgh-based handwriting analyst who has scrutinized the writings of Britney Spears (she's very obstinate) and former New York Gov. Eliot Spitzer (he needs romance, but does not trust it). After taking a look at Gaga handwriting samples, Duez deduced:

- Lady Gaga is a strongly independent, and a my-way-or-the-highway person, as evidenced by her straight up and sometimes slanted slightly to the left lettering.

She believes that her way is the right way, said

Duez. Critics beware!

- Gaga does not like to be misunderstood, as evidenced by copious amounts of printed text and is a strong communicator. See open tops on lower case "O," "A," and "D" characters.

- Her handwriting evidences a strong performance talent, indicated by the broad "T" bar crossings.

- Honesty is critical for Gaga; when someone lies to her they are gone, gone, gone, said Duez. See the constant use of uppercase, cobra strike "S" through out her writing.

- Apparently, there is an old relationship that has not quite faded from Gaga's memory, theorizes Duez. It may still return, unbidden, in dreams, he said. See the beginning arc in the ending "y" in "humanity."

- And, our personal favourite: There is evidence of a strong impact to Gaga's left leg/knee/shin area. This shows up on the dent on the "g" at the end of "unassuming" and in several other "y" characters in her handwriting sample.

► Glover is not the first comedian to make the jump to musician ► Metro looks at those who have done it before

SCENE@METRONWS.CA

In the early days of film and television, variety was king. Elvis had starring roles, the Rat Pack all sang in their movies and while Jackie Gleason had one of the highest-rated shows on TV as a bus driver with a comically short fuse, he was also releasing albums of romantic mood music.

But as the modern entertainment industry evolved, the public gradually became less accepting of stars who established themselves in one medium, then tried to succeed in another.

► Donald Glover is making the crossover from comedian to musician.

But now that reality television is the norm, the world might be more accepting of a comic actor who turns to music, like Donald Glover.

As Troy, the naive and excitable former jock on NBC's Community, he is hilarious, and as a rapper leading Childish Gambino, Glover is more than proficient, rocking a shockingly different persona than viewers may have thought they knew. Here are a few others who crossed over.

Steve Martin

Martin always put goofy songs on his comedy albums but his 2009 album,

The Crow: New Songs for the 5-String Banjo, proved he could gracefully transition into a medium that requires players to be well-versed in its tradition. It also helps when Earl Scruggs guests.

Eddie Murphy

After tucking funny songs between comedy tracks on his albums, Murphy decided to take music seriously.

His Rick James-produced anthem, Party All the Time, went to No. 2 on the charts in 1985. Most of his follow-up singing work was met with less enthusiasm. Whatzupwitu, a 1993 duet with Michael Jackson, made listeners wonder the same about Murphy.

Adam Sandler

Sandler mastered the funny-guy-with-the-guitar thing on Saturday Night Live, and some of the songs on his first two comedy albums were absurd enough to make your stomach hurt.

But 1997's What's Your Name? is all songs, and though the musicianship is impressive, the lyrics fly somewhere between funny and sincere, and it falls flat.

THE BEST TIME OF THE YEAR SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONWS.CA

Today is one of my favourite days of the entire year: the Friday leading into the first summer long weekend.

After a cold winter and a cool, and for many, disastrously wet spring, Canadians are possessed by hopeful optimism about what the next four months will bring.

This means it's also time to load up on some new music.

Ben Harper/Give Till It's Gone (out now): Most of Ben's best records have been released in either the spring or summer, making them great soundtracks for heading camping or laying out on the beach.

His 10th studio album, which again features his band, The Relentless 7-fits, that bill. And yes, that's Jackson Browne making a guest appearance.

Moby/Destroyed (out now): Electonica's favourite bald vegan returns with an album written mostly in hotel rooms in the middle of the night.

A chronic insomniac, Moby captures both the peace and loneliness one feels at 3 in the morning in a strange city.

Listening to this album in the daytime doesn't feel quite right, but in the middle of the night, it makes all the sense in the world.

Eddie Vedder/Ukulele Songs (out May 31): When you're one of the most famous singers in the world, you can do whatever you want, including recording a solo album where you play the ukulele.

Rumour has it that Eddie originally planned this project as gift to friends and family, but it turned out so well that it's getting a proper release.

Haunting yet very, very pretty.

► Judah Friedlander is currently on his World Champion standup tour.

Is it time for fans to start worrying about 30 Rock?

► Actor Judah Friedlander doesn't think the popular show is done yet Judah Friedlander says the recent postponement of Season 6 of 30 Rock isn't anything to worry about.

The actor, who plays trucker hat-loving Frank Rossitano on the acclaimed TV comedy series, says NBC was sincere earlier this week when it cited Tina Fey's pregnancy as the reason it's pushing the Season 6 debut to next January.

"Here's what's going on, to my knowledge: Tina Fey is pregnant, not by (co-star) Tracy Morgan and not by me, as far as I can remember," Friedlander, 42, wise-cracked in a recent phone interview to promote his standup show at Toronto's Second City on Thursday.

"Now, the thing is, Tina Fey is having a baby soon and I believe she's having the baby around the time we normally start filming for the new season, so our start time is actually being delayed some," he continued.

"We're going to start filming later than normal, so because of that our show has to air later than normal. So to my knowledge that's what that's all about."

Despite critical praise and a slew of awards, 30 Rock has failed to attract blockbuster ratings and its future has frequently been in doubt.

With star Alec Baldwin's contract set to expire in 2012, and with the recent Season 6 postponement, fans have recently been more concerned than usual. The Atlantic Wire also recently published an article questioning the future of the show, opening with the sentence: "Is it time to start worrying about 30 Rock?"

However, Friedlander is confident they'll be back. "We are guaranteed for at least one more season and after that we don't know yet," he said.

During the 30 Rock hiatus, Friedlander will be busy with his World Champion standup tour.

The title for Friedlander's tour, as his fans well know, stems from his eccentric public persona as a standup comedian.

With a bushy beard and long locks, thick glasses, and T-shirts and trucker hats emblazoned with his World Champion slogan (sometimes in other languages and even in braille), the jokester boasts onstage and in interviews that he's an undefeated master of martial arts, among many other things.

Shriver could write a memoir

DOROTHY ROBINSON
METRO WORLD NEWS
METRO WORLD NEWS IN NEW YORK

While Maria Shriver continues to deal with the fallout of husband Arnold Schwarzenegger's admission of fathering a child with a long-time staffer, it's important for her to remember that all is not lost: She can always write a memoir! In fact, she'll join an esteemed "wronged political wife" collection of authors. Here, other political wives share what they felt like when they were in the same situation, via excerpts from their books.

- Her husband may have cheated, but Maria Shriver's story could sell
- Why not pen a book about her marriage like these other political wives?

God declares your responsibility to warn all peoples under your authority.

John 15:13 Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

Ezekiel 33:6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

NO MAN KNOWS THE DAY OR THE HOUR?

Daniel 12:4 But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased. [At the end of time, Man will know!]

The Bible declares that "No Man Knows" is describing the unsaved condition of mankind. If you are saved then we may know all things spiritually discerned in God's Word.

1Cor 2:10-19 But God hath revealed them [true gospel] unto us [true believers] by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things [true gospel], yea, the deep things [true gospel] of God. 12 Now we [true believers] have received ~ the spirit which is of God: that we might know the things [true gospel] that are freely given to us [true believers] of God. 14 But the natural man receiveth not the things [true gospel] ~ for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them [=No unsaved man knows] because they are spiritually discerned. 19 ~ we have the mind of Christ.

Noah knew when the flood would occur, Abraham was told of the destruction of Sodom, In fact, Amos 3:7 shows, God required Himself to declare every judgment before it occurred

Amos 3:7 Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets.

HAROLD CAMPING A PROPHET?

In Camping's book 1994? he discovered an important end date for this world. However, because God had not finished revealing all the truths of the timeline in the Bible, Mr. Camping misunderstood the significance of that end date against the language in Matthew 24:22 "Except those days be shortened there should no flesh be saved". This language led him to believe God was speaking of the end of the world. The only correction to Mr. Camping's work in the book 1994? is that this language "those days be shortened" was pointing to the all important end of the first half of The Great Tribulation. The significance is; The first half was a period when virtually no one was being saved. It wasn't until the second half of The Great Tribulation (Which we are at the end of now) when God started the ingathering that He describes as "The latter rain" where "A great multitude that no man can number" shall be saved.

Mr. Camping's work remains viable today because this crucial milestone helps us know for certain when the second part of The Great Tribulation began.

Critics ignore the "?" in the title and the fact that Mr. Camping was quite clear in his book that 2011 was an alternative year for the end of the world.

Through the efforts of thousands of critical listeners, all doubt has been removed regarding the faithfulness of Harold Camping's study of "God's Time line of History"

Using The Bible's definition of "Prophet" as one who brings the truth of God's word then Harold Camping and those who have validated his work are the real deal.

CHRIST DID KNOW?

Mark 13:32 But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the son, but the Father.

Notice that Mark 13:32 does not say "Christ" does not know. It is easily proved that the language "the son" cannot be pointing to Christ as follows:

The original Greek did not use capital letters in the word "son".

1Cor2: The Spirit of God knows all things.
Col 2:9 For in him [Christ] dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily.

To say "Christ does not know all things" is to say Christ did not have the Spirit of God in him. This is blasphemy against the Holy Spirit. Who else could "the son" be pointing to? Satan is called "The son of perdition" "The angels in heaven" is pointing to "The fallen angels" which were cast out heaven when Christ went to the cross. Rev 12

A multitude of faithful Bible students, that no man can number, agree:

The end of this world, beginning on MAY 21 2011, is established by God's Word The Holy Bible and God will shortly bring it to pass.

A MESSAGE OF HOPE:

The date of judgment has been set by God, is declared in "The Holy Bible" and is being understood by a great multitude that no man can number. Our heartfelt prayer is that all readers take earnest heed of this warning and "Cry out to God for mercy" while you "Search" for truth on your own. Go to www.timehasanend.org and compare its faithfulness to The Bible for yourself. # Shriver having second thoughts?

- Arnold Schwarzenegger's wife hires top divorce lawyer
- But she may not be ready to end her marriage, a source says

Maria Shriver has reportedly hired top celebrity divorce lawyer Laura Wasser, whose past clients have included Angelina Jolie, Christina Aguilera and Britney Spears, according to People magazine.

But that doesn't necessarily mean that her marriage to former California governor Arnold Schwarzenegger is all but done.

"Maria hasn't decided yet if she wants to end her marriage," a source says, adding that Shriver hired Wasser before news of Schwarzenegger's affair and child with a former housekeeper got out.

With no new Sex and the City work on the horizon, Kim Catrrall says she's feel-

"I'm having such a good time being footloose and fancy free and not having to check in and say, 'Is it OK if I do this or do that?'" she tells E! Online. "There's no mom and pop standing over me. I enjoy that."

So what is the actress doing with her time?

"I'm dating, getting out there," Catrrall said. "It's scary but also it's exciting. It's both of those things. It's a tightrope, you know? It's feeling like you're 14 again, which you kind of like when you're 54." ● METRO

David and Victoria Beckham have reportedly set the date to welcome their first daughter, planning the birth for July 4 in a private hospital in Los Angeles, according to the Sun.

The Beckhams, who already have three sons, were reportedly planning to welcome the girl at London's Portland Hospital.

"While the date hasn't changed, it was decided a Los Angeles clinic would be best for the immediate family," a source says.

"Victoria and David love America, its culture and her people, who have welcomed them with open arms. The most important thing is the health of mother and baby and things can always change at the last minute. But if it's possible for the baby to be born on Independence Day, Vic and David would be thrilled."

I'm a bit of a barbecue weenie. At my house, boy meets grill until mid-fall. Then I wheel my gas-fired girl into the garage until Victoria Day.

She's ready to make her 2011 debut this long weekend, and when it comes to picking a wine to match grilled meats, I look for juice that can hold its own against the intensity of the meat, the influence of the marinade and, since I'm a bit of a hamburger aficionado, any condiments I decide to lather on when meat hits bun.

Think young, jammy and red. It's not time to uncork that Bordeaux you've had since midway through the last century. Best bets are Californian zinfandel and merlot, Aussie shiraz, Chilean cabernet sauvignon, and for a taste of the Old World, a Barbera d'Asti from Italy's Piedmont region.

In Argentina, barbecue is a way of life and a red like Trapiche's 2010 Varietals Malbec ($9.00 - $11.99) — with dark, blueberry flavour, balanced tannins and spice trail — is a grill match made in Mendoza. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. # No bake Chocolate Biscuit Cake

MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► This recipe makes 12 servings.

► This unbaked creation involves lots of crumbled cookies and chocolate ► It's easy and quick to make

Preparation:

- 1 Coat an 8-inch (20 cm) round springform pan with cooking spray; set it aside.
- 2 With your hands break up the biscuits into about 1/2-inch (1 cm) pieces; you want chunks, not crumbs.
- 3 In a microwave-safe bowl, combine the cream, honey and butter. Microwave the mix on high for 1 1/2 minutes, or until it is bubbling. Add the chocolate and stir until it is melted and the mixture is smooth. Stir in the vanilla, then the crumbled biscuits. Spoon the mixture into the prepared pan, using the back of the spoon to smooth the top. Gently tap the pan on the counter to eliminate any air pockets. Refrigerate for 3 hours or until thoroughly chilled.

- 4 Glaze: In a small saucepan over medium heat, combine butter and cream. When the mixture reaches a boil, remove it from the heat and add the chocolate, stirring until completely melted and smooth.

- 5 Carefully remove the sides from the springform pan (you may need to slide a paring knife around the inside upper edge to ensure the sides come away cleanly from the cake). Invert the Chocolate Biscuit Cake onto a wire rack, then remove the bottom of the pan from the cake. Set the rack over parchment paper to catch any of the drips.

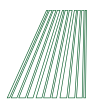

- 6 Pour the glaze evenly over the cake, allowing it to drip down and completely cover the top and sides. Allow the cake to firm up, then transfer it to a serving plate. Refrigerate any of the leftovers.

The Colby Bistro and Wine Bar carries 20 types of house wine

COLBY BISTRO AND WINE BAR OPENS TO RAVE REVIEWS

Open since mid-April, feedback to the new Colby Bistro and Wine Bar has been impressive.

"The feedback has been just so positive," says Dan Latter, Colby's co-owner.

One of the things the owners have heard from customers is that since the Colby Bistro opened, they've been eating closer to home and not going to restaurants in Halifax.

"They tell us it's like a free meal because they don't have to pay for the bridge, they don't have to pay for parking or the gas to drive there," says co-owner Jamie Latter. (He and Dan are brothers.)

The quaint 60-seat establishment is beautifully decorated and features natural stone in much of the establishment. The main bar features a granite countertop and has overhanging pot lights. These decorations make for a sophisticated, yet casual environment.

Looking back on the decision to open this kind of establishment, Dan Latter says he regrets not having done this before.

"We should have done it years ago," he says.

When Latter and co-owner Jamie Latter came up with the idea, the feedback was quite encouraging for it.

"We talked to a lot of our customers about the idea and lot of them really liked it," recalls Dan Latter. "They said, 'Cole Harbour is ready for that.'"

Located at the Colby Village Shopping Plaza, the establishment was previously a Dollar Store and had to be entirely renovated.

"We did this in six weeks, cutting the floor to opening the bar," says Dan Latter, with noticeable pride.

"A lot of people told us we should have been on a reality show."

A MOUTH- WATERING EXPERIENCE

One quick look at the Colby Bistro and Wine Bar's menu will have people's tongues salivating. The extensive menu includes appetizers, salads, chowders, steaks, pastas and desserts.

"Our team has done a fabulous job putting together the menus," says co-owner Dan Latter. "The food options are delicious, creative and look great."

Narrowing down one's options is tricky, but Latter has some recommendations. For an appetizer, he recommends the stuffed mushrooms, which are stuffed with jalapeño cream cheese, topped with fine bread crumbs and parmesan cheese. Scallop, lobster or tenderloin steak and caramelized onions are the options for the main filling.

The chowders are also proving to be a hit, says Latter. The chowders are gluten free and are made with potatoes, celery, onions, butter and fresh cream. Patrons can choose from four types of chowder, which include creamy haddock chowder and the ultimate seafood chowder.

There are also fresh daily specials.

"The chef is extremely creative," says Latter. "He comes in every morning and amazes us with the specials."

On holidays and weekends, the bistro serves brunch from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The brunch items are mouth-watering, but the highlight is the cinnamon French toasted pound cake. This is made with fresh strawberries, Devonshire cream and a meat choice.

As a bistro, the establishment has an extensive wine list and martini menu. There are 20 house wines to choose from and almost as many martinis available.

Thursday nights will be martini night at Colby's and martinis will sell for $5.95, down from its regular price of $8.95.

Once a month, the establishment plans on having a wine tasting night, where patrons can sample wines and learn how to pair them with different foods.

On Friday and Saturday evenings, there will be "light entertainment," says Latter, which will consist of a live solo musician show.

Chef Michael and the team are amazing people with the meals they are creating

NEW LOCATION, SAME GREAT ESTABLISHMENT

Victoria and Melissa pour some cold draft for some thirsty patrons at Big Leagues

Big Leagues Dining Room and Lounge has moved. The popular eatery has moved from the Forest Hills Shopping Centre and is now located at the Colby Village Shopping Plaza, in the former Colby Alehouse location.

"Things have worked out really well for us," says co-owner Dan Latter.

The new location is about the same size as the previous location and seats 130. Big Leagues will be a fusion of what it was like at its old location and the former Colby Alehouse.

"Basically what we're doing here is taking the best out of both places: the old Colby Alehouse and Big Leagues," says co-owner Jamie Latter. "Whatever worked in both places, that's what we're doing here."

For example, the Colby Alehouse didn't offer much live entertainment, but that is something Big Leagues has long been known for. As a result, a new stage was built and money was invested into upgrading the sound and lighting system. Acts such as Trooper, Matt Mays and Doug and the Slugs have all graced the Big Leagues stage in the past.

So far, the feedback from patrons has been great regarding Big Leagues' new location.

"They really like it," says Jamie Latter. "They knew the old place was dated."

Big Leagues had been in its previous location for 24 years and attempts to renovate it were rebuffed by the management of the mall at the former location.

One thing that won't change with the new location is the owners' commitment to charitable endeavours.

"Our big one is the Christmas Daddies Telethon and we will continue with that," says Dan Latter.

Over the years, Big Leagues has managed to raise over $700,000 for the charitable cause. One of the ways it raises money for Christmas Daddies is through an annual golf tournament, which will take place this year on August 24 at Sherwood Golf and Country Club.

"We're just going to continue with what we're doing," says Dan Latter.

A NEW DIRECTION

Jamie Latter has a vision for Big Leagues Dining Room and Lounge.

"I want to have a theme every night of the week," says the co-owner/general manager of Big Leagues.

Wednesday and Thursday nights will continue to be the ever-popular wing night. The line-up to get in on these nights has been known to extend outside the entrance for the mouth-watering jumbo wings, which sell for 45 cents a piece on those nights.

These nights will also act as Schnitzel nights and the establishment will offer schnitzels at a discounted price.

On Thursdays, there will even be unplugged entertainment.

At the previous location, Friday nights featured a DJ while Saturdays had live entertainment, but a new plan is in store for Big Leagues at its new location.

"The plan is to have live entertainment on Fridays and Saturdays," says co-owner Dan Latter.

He says this move will be effective once the NHL playoffs are over.

Friday nights will remain all you can eat fish Fridays, with unlimited haddock fish and chips selling for $10.95.

Big Leagues will continue to offer its popular brunch on weekends and holidays. This will run from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Popular options for brunch include the all you can eat pancake special for $4.95 and the breakfast special, which consists of bacon, eggs, home fries and toast for $3.75.

Dartmouth runners eager for Blue Nose test

MATTHEW WILEST
@METRONEWS.CA

When Johnny MacPherson helped found Dartmouth's Heart and Sole running club a few months ago, staying fit suddenly became interesting.

"I used to hate running," says MacPherson, a 39-year-old father of two. "I found it boring, but now I crave it."

MacPherson picked up running about a year ago in the hopes of getting healthier. Since having his two children, four-year-old Rowan and two-year-old Carrington, MacPherson — a former rugby player and

"What we wanted was to get people together with common interests, keep it on this side of the harbour, casual and fun, and it turns out there's a market for that. Our turnout's been phenomenal."

JOHNNY MACPHERSON, FOUNDER OF HEART AND SOLE

triathlon competitor — had fallen into a sedentary lifestyle. A diabetes diagnosis was further impetus to change his ways.

"You get into your profession, you're at a desk most of the day, and then kids come along," says MacPherson, an urban planner who works for the city.

"At some point you have to say, 'This isn't working. I need to give myself a kick in the butt.'"

When MacPherson, Michelle Kempton and several other friends formed Heart and Sole in February, he became confident the lifestyle change would be permanent.

The group, which is free to join and has grown to 230 members, puts runners into comfortable training groups and provides weekly, pre-planned routes of varying distances.

"The club is really the glue that holds my training together and has now become a pretty good social networking opportunity," says MacPherson, whose wife Deidre is also a Heart and Sole member.

"We've met some pretty good friends here."

MacPherson, who is running the half-marathon on Sunday, says he expects 60 of Heart and Sole's members to participate in the Blue Nose, including many first-timers.

"We're excited," he says. "There's nervous excitement, but they can't wait to test themselves in an actual race. People are really looking forward to Sunday."

Sea Dogs face reeling OHL Majors

On Sunday, coach Dave Cameron's Mississauga St. Michael's Majors lost a gut-wrenching 3-2 overtime decision to the Owen Sound Attack in the seventh game of the OHL final.

Normally that would be the end of a season, but with Mississauga, Ont., hosting the Memorial Cup this year the Majors qualified regardless and have new life.

"We're very fortunate that way to have another chance," said Cameron. "It should make it easier to let go of."

The Majors will need a clear mind to open the tournament Friday as they face the QMJHL champions from Saint John. The Sea Dogs are the top-ranked team and come in to the tournament with a perfect 10-0 playoff road record. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Herd name Hartley an assistant

The Halifax Mooseheads have hired Bob Hartley's son, Steve, as an assistant coach to new head coach Dominique Ducharme.

Hartley, whose father Bob coached the Colorado Avalanche to a Stanley Cup in 2001, is just 25 and most recently coached Joliet of the Quebec Junior AAA Hockey League to a 55-36-9 record over the past two seasons.

He inked a two-year deal, a term that matches Ducharme's. METRO

J.P. Arencibia hit a two-run homer Thursday to snap a 1-1 tie in the seventh as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Tampa Bay Rays 3-2. Juan Rivera also homered for the Jays (22-21). Toronto starter Ricky Romero allowed three hits over seven innings for the win.

Reigning queen of players

FIELD OF PLAY

SCOTT RUSSELL
HALIFAX@METRONEWS.CA

At the training camp for Germany's national women's football team in Bitburg, not far from the Luxembourg border, there's a photographer trying to get a shot of the queen of European soccer.

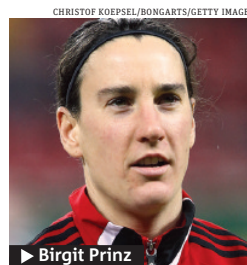

Birgit Prinz isn't playing along. The 33-year-old striker, the most prolific player in FIFA Women's World Cup history, lets her teammates pose and waits until the circus is over before emerging from the clubhouse.

"For me it's never been about personal goals,"

Prinz remarks. "It's always been about being part of this team."

Her English is remarkable given that she rarely encounters an interview in anything other than her mother tongue. Such is the modest nature of acclaim granted to arguably the greatest women's soccer player in the annals of the game.

Prinz, you see, is approaching her fifth World Cup. She has been the champion twice and holds the record for goals scored in World Cup matches with 14. She has played at four Olympics and won the bronze medal three times. For good measure, add three consecutive years as FIFA World Player of the Year from 2003-05 and 208 international matches in 16 years as the German stalwart.

► Birgit Prinz

Prinz has done it all. Now she gets to compete in a World Cup at home and take her place as a much appreciated legend in a football-mad nation.

"I never had female role models when I was first playing this sport," Prinz admits. "I looked up to the guys who played in the Bundesliga. They were my role models. Girls need role models, too. If I am one now, then that makes me happy."

A practising physiotherapist and student of psychology who has been vocal in promoting the humanitarian aims of FIFA, Prinz has achieved all her goals and then some. Just ask former teammate Steffi Jones, the president and CEO of the FIFA Women's World Cup 2011 organizing committee.

"Birgit is my hero," says Jones. "She's not as fast as she once was and doesn't score as much. She just makes everyone around her better."

That's what heroes do, and make no mistake, Prinz is football royalty.

She is the undisputed queen of football in this country and probably throughout the world. When she plays against Canada to open the World Cup at Olympic Stadium in Berlin before 70,000 fans, Prinz will finally receive the undivided attention of her loyal subjects.

Bruins up 2-1 on Bolts

► Defence returns after 18 goals were scored in series' first two games

Tim Thomas made 31 saves for his first playoff shutout this season and second overall, and rookie Tyler Seguin scored his fourth goal in the last three games as the Boston Bruins beat the Tampa Bay Lightning 2-0 in Game 3 of the Eastern Conference final Thursday night.

Thomas, the favourite to win the Vezina Trophy as the top regular-season goalie, gave up nine goals in the first two games of the series that the Bruins lead 2-1.

Seguin made it 2-0 from in-close at 8:12 of the third as the puck trickled between the legs of Lightning goalie Dwayne Roloson and into the net. After sitting out the Bruins' first two playoff rounds, the 19-year-old Seguin was inserted into the lineup to replace an injured Patrice Bergeron in Game 1 and has seven points overall. David Krejci also scored for the Bruins.

Game 4 is Saturday in Tampa. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
